

€4,800.00

Street scenes play in interior spaces. A contradiction that simultaneously describes the moment of coming together of human and architectural components. The breakout, then, from the fixed system of our sphere, which gives the images their depth.

[illegible]