Mark Hellbusch: Picture "Rare marmot" (2024)

€500.00

Rare marmot - Between stillness and movement This oil painting on canvas (40x30 cm, 2024) captures the subtle presence of a marmot gently emerging from the flowing shades of brown, ochre and green. The colors merge so that the motif oscillates between visibility and camouflage - a creature that seems to be one with its surroundings. For me, this work symbolizes the harmony between nature and abstraction. The marmot appears like a fleeting moment - present, but never quite tangible. The gentle color gradients create a calm, almost meditative atmosphere that invites the viewer to explore the interplay between form and dissolution. A unique original that is particularly expressive thanks to its subtle nuances and harmonious coloring.
