Ilona Schmidt:
Sculpture "Rocketman" (2023)

€790.00

The Rocketman sculpture combines organic and geometric elements to create a unique composition. At the center of the work is a fragmented human figure sculpted from stoneware. Its surface is rough, riddled with natural cracks and painted in earthy colors, giving it an archaic, almost fossil-like appearance. This figure is positioned in a narrow, tapered wooden frame that is reminiscent of the shape of a weaver's shuttle. The work can be presented either lying down or hanging. The possibility of placing it directly on the wall reinforces its presence as an art object and underlines the idea of a journey or movement - in keeping with the title Rocketman. The symbolic combination of body and vessel, of human form and technical element, invites reflection on transformation, protection and overcoming boundaries.
