

Julia Pasinski: Picture "Lucky clover 1" (2022)

€750.00

The image captures a special moment of the day when a purple oxalis, with its triangular folding leaves, casts impressive shadows on the windowsill and the table below. The soft sunlight streaming through the window interacts with the delicate structures of the plant, creating an artistic play of shadows. The purple color of the oxalis gives the image a deep, almost magical mood and contrasts delightfully with the darker, sharply defined shadows. The windowsill and table, illuminated by this natural play of light, become stages for a constantly changing performance in which light and darkness dance together. The painting represents the interplay of nature and interior space, of light and form. The painting is signed on the front and back. On the back it is also dated.
