

Ilona Schmidt: Picture "The Peacemaker....looking for a new job" (2022)

The Peacemaker....looking for a new Job The expressionistic portrait shows a peacemaker looking for stability and security. The color palette of the painting consists of different shades of blue, yellow and green, which blend harmoniously with each other. The blue represents the peace and stability that the peacemaker seeks, while the yellow symbolizes the hope and positive direction of his mission.... Green represents nature and conveys a sense of growth and development. He appears determined and goal-oriented, conveying the message of bringing about a positive change in a troubled world.
