

Jörg Herz: Sculpture "Midsummer" (2020)

€980.00

The sculpture shows a woman lost in thought, possibly observing something. The artist heart captures her moment of pure silence and emphasizes the positive in life, without the need for external confirmation. The sculpture suggests that we don't need to constantly compare ourselves to others or brag about our accomplishments on social media to be satisfied. Instead, we should focus on being present in the moment and finding fulfillment within ourselves. The woman's contemplative state reminds us to slow down and appreciate the simple things in life, rather than constantly striving for external validation. In essence, the sculpture celebrates the beauty of quiet introspection and living in the moment. / figure approx. 60 cm high / with base 72 cm high.
