

Ulla Kutter: Picture "Buenos Aires I" (2016)

€4,000.00

Deeply impressed by the beauty of the city, the artist painted this picture after a visit to Buenos Aires. In particular, she liked the Jaracarana trees in this urban environment. Lights, colors and the atmosphere of this city are the focus of this painting. The idea for the painting came from a photograph that the painter cut up and reassembled to arrive at this composition. The lights of the street traffic merge into luminous surfaces. In the foreground is a woman who is in a hurry as well as a man with smartphone. Visually, depth is created by the warm colors of the café in the foreground - in contrast to the cool colors of the street and the sky in the background.
