

Ulla Kutter: Picture "Rainy Day IV" (2020)

€2,400.00

A young woman sitting on the train and busy with her cell phone - a very common scene is depicted in this picture. Very special is the reflection, which is interrupted by raindrops running down the glass pane of the train. Behind it, in another layer, another train can be seen. It creates a special atmosphere that is peculiar to rainy days: the nice feeling of sitting in a sheltered room in the dry and not being exposed to this rain for the time being, and then perhaps being in friendly company and being able to occupy oneself with something. The daughter of the painter was kind enough to provide her with this motif. The young women were here on their way to the university.
