Ute Bivona:
Picture "Over the edge" (2022)

€3,800.00

What expression, what exploding energy and color! During her isolation, when she had Corona, the artist still worked. After the fever subsided, the artist decided to start a new series to create even more abstract, perhaps floral again, but in a much more abstracted form. A lot is going on in it, as in her when she did not know how the disease would affect her. Dejection, fever, hope and then endless relief and joy after the symptoms subsided and normalcy slowly returned! Handwriting-like elements, graphic shapes, lines, color patches and scratches alternate to create a wonderfully cohesive overall image that is compelling. The vibrant bright colors make this extraordinary work an absolute eye-catcher!
