

Mark Hellbusch:

Picture "Pictures of a journey - abstract painting on the paint box" (2023)

€5,500.00

By using modern and experimental painting techniques on this oversized color box, an abstract work of art is created in the form of a painted wall sculpture. Fascinating fields of tension arise in terms of both form and color. On one side are the primary colors yellow, orange, red, green, blue, violet, brown as well as white and black. On the other side are the "used" color box plates, the colorful spaces in between and the colored border area. The result of the artistic process, the symbolic power of the color box and the title "Pictures of a Journey" encourage the viewer to develop associations. Once the imagination is stimulated, an open and personal process of abstraction can emerge that appeals to the viewer in a variety of ways.
