

Hasso Heybrock: Picture "Through the night 1" (2022)

€1,200.00

Even if it seems to us as if there are no colors in the darkness, they are there. Only with the coming morning light do we see them and we let the diffuse structures of the developing mood take effect on us. The day always begins with the same ritual. The light slowly shakes off the dark structures of the night and the morning light shows us what this day has in store for us. I follow this mood and let what I experience take effect on me. Mostly the light is soft and only slowly stronger colors and shapes develop. The mood is calm and friendly. The day's work can begin (Through the night 1 and 2).
