

José Bifano: Picture "Vital Flow" (2023)

€800.00

I was inspired by the concept of matter as a metaphysical idea. How is it constituted? What is its cause? I imagined matter at its origin composed of fluids arranged in a large number of small threads of water and sandy fibers that intertwine with each other, forming a labyrinthine structure. As it is observed in detail, small nodules and cavities begin to distinguish themselves, as if it were a kind of organ or biological tissue. It seems to be a living structure, an entity in motion. Vital Flow is a painting that invites reflection and introspection. It shows an organic and mysterious world that hides behind the surface of the known, a world that is alive and constantly changing. This artwork was created using my own technique, which uses toilet paper as a support. In its creation, I used acrylic paints, glue, toilet paper, and water.
