Michael Rofka:
Picture "Abstract bud" (2017)

€3,000.00

The image, of course, does not represent a bud in the naturalistic sense. Rather, it shows a dynamic structure, which, however, seems to grow or break open. Strong light-dark contrasts support the powerful events. It is a picture of concrete art, which does not want to depict anything, even like abstract painting starts from an object, but creates with the means of painting, color and form. The artist shows here that this can also lead to complex moving works.
