

Heinz Stoewer: Picture "Escalante sky" (2008)

€1,800.00

On his numerous hikes and trips in the American Southwest, the artist repeatedly came across tranquil expanses under a gigantic sky and was fascinated by them. He processed these impressions in this painting without taking a specific landscape view as a model. The work is inspired by inner pictures and shows a landscape from his imagination, but one that could exist there in exactly the same way. Peace and tranquillity define this very contemplative painting. It is dated and signed on the back.
