

Sabrina Seck: Picture "Hydra III" (2024)

With Hydra III I continue my unique series about the character levels of people, depicted with multiple portraits that symbolize human qualities. Based on the mythological Hydra, each head stands for something that defines us humans. Some things die, some things blossom anew, some things are friendly, some things are gloomy. We would also like to cut off the head of some characteristics, but once manifested, they grow back. In my work, intense emotions and strong colors merge to explore the complexity of human emotions. Using acrylic paints, I express the vibrant energy and depth of the human spirit on canvas, with each brushstroke emphasizing both realism and expressionism.
