

Michael Rofka: Picture "Golden time" (2022)

€2,800.00

This painting is a color field painting in which yellow is the dominant color. The colors are applied in several layers. Not only yellow, but also ocher, red and white were used as pigments with a binder. This creates a depth in the picture. In addition, the artist has thus created a complex color space, which creates a different impression depending on the lighting conditions. The motif, an elliptical shape that seems to be embedded in a ground in the center of the picture, may be associated with different associations. The artist is the bright, warm, almost golden atmosphere of the image important.
