

Ilona Schmidt: Sculpture "The dance II" (2020)

€890.00

The figure captures the essence of movement and expression in an abstract, organic form. The figure seems to emerge from the raw, primal matter, as if rising from the earth and lingering in a moment of dynamism and emotion. The implied limbs and upturned head convey a sense of lightness and surrender - a dance that moves between dissolution and form, between weightlessness and earthiness. The structure is raw and unpolished, which reinforces the intensity and originality of the movement. The dark, metallic tones with subtle green and golden shimmers lend the sculpture a timeless appearance, as if it were an archaic fragment of an ancient ritual.
