

Corinna Rosteck: Picture "Reflection" (2001)

€2,500.00

The Whirl&Wake photo series was created in collaboration with the performer Iris de Boor at a Berlin lake. Various moments of touching the surface of the water and the immersion and submersion of the performer's body in the liquid element were captured. The reflections of the water are formally taken up in the carrier material used for the photographs, reflective metal foil. The photographs deliberately do not reveal whether the performer is emerging or sinking. Rather, the aim is to capture the moment in which the body breaks through the shiny mirror of the water, which here also stands for the boundary between above and below, day and night.
