

Michael Rofka: Picture "Ascension" (2012)

€4,000.00

"Rise" is a color field painting in which the paint has been applied in many layers. The title most likely refers to sunrises, although this is not depicted in the naturalistic sense. The artist observes a lot and for a long time color appearances in nature, especially just those of the sky. He lets these experiences flow into the lengthy painting process. In the result then a poetic expression of nature is important. The picture has a light, warm atmosphere.
