

Heinz Stoewer: Picture "Halifax harbor" (2013)

€1,700.00

The work shows a reflection of water in shades of brown, black and green. The painting was inspired by the sight of a harbor wall covered with shells and algae by the sea in Halifax, Canada. The movement of the water blurs the mirrored contours, creating a seemingly abstract water world. The mirrored parts of the harbor wall become something new and not immediately recognizable through the movements, and thus something completely independent is created through the painting. The strong colors of the picture reinforce this alienating impression. The picture is signed and dated on the back.
