

Heinz Stoewer: Picture "Halifax harbor" (2013)

€1,600.00

The work shows a reflection of water in shades of brown, black and green. The painting was inspired by the sight of a harbor wall covered with shells and algae by the sea in Halifax, Canada. The movement of the water blurs the mirrored contours, creating a seemingly abstract composition. The mirrored parts of the harbor wall become something new and not immediately recognizable due to the movements, and thus the painting creates something completely independent. The bold colors of the painting reinforce this impression.
