Ute Meyer:
Picture "Lilies" (2015)

€650.00

This picture was taken in August in Ute Meyer's own garden. The large blooms of white and purple-pink flowers of lilies exuded a wonderful fragrance. Their orange stamens shine against the vibrant green of the leaves. Three small light blue cranesbill flowers can be seen at the bottom of the painting. The oil paint is applied very impasto with brushes. This gives the picture plasticity and depth. The strong brushstroke structures the leaf and flower shapes. The canvas is hand-covered four primed and provided with a steel wire as a suspension. The edges are painted. The picture can be hung directly
