

Michael Bajer: Picture "Rody" (2021)

One of the first works in the series Disrupted Things. Michael Bajer wants to depict the beauty and realism of particular things that surround or occupy him. The appearance of the subject is thereby rearranged, made more interesting, in order to create access for the viewer and give it different intuitive and personal meanings and associations. Rody is his son's bouncy horse, which is currently very often in use at home.
