

Ute Meyer: Picture "Baltic Sea / Ærø / Sunset" (2023)

Created in the studio from a photographic note, this picture by Ute Meyer captures the joy of sunsets on the Danish island of Ærø in the Baltic Sea. The half-set sun casts its light on the sea, changing from light yellow to orange. The stones in the water and on the beach are highlighted darkly against the light. A distant land formation can be seen on the clear horizon line on the left, while the sky changes from bright red-orange to a softer blue. The evening light is captured impressionistically. The canvas, triple primed and self-stretched, is fitted with a steel cable for hanging. Painted edges allow it to be hung without framing, and the signature is on the front.
