

Anne Samson: Picture "Still life on gray" (2022)

€1,400.00

In a kind of ceramic bowl in blue and white with a beautiful fantasy pattern found a thousand colorful flowers in all colors of the rainbow. Red and pink dominate here, but green and dark blue also play a role, so that a pretty color contrast emerges, which provides tension within the image. The flowers are distributed over the entire picture area. They shine particularly brightly because I've used a matte gray background against the shiny blossoms. I really like that. A yellowish flower also forms an additional color accent. I like the picture very much. It belongs to a whole series of flower pictures, where I used this gray background. Demnächst I show more of it. Who has fun with colors, which should hang up this week, it has become beautiful.
