

Marcus Meyer: Sculpture "Serial Pig" (2023)

€2,700.00

In his cultural-historical interaction with animals, man shows man's relationship with nature. Always emotionally and intellectually charged, be it as a companion, be it as a economic factor or projection figure, the consideration of man's relationship with animals allows with animals allows conclusions to be drawn about the state of the project "human being" or "civilization". Hidden in this are the origin and perspective of our existence. The "Industrialized Being" series thus poses the question: How did it come about that animals are kept and killed en masse? In this display, three objects are shown at the same time, but are sold as individual pieces.
