

Beate Garding Schubert: Picture "Give Me A Smile" (2023)

€2,600.00

The series "The show must go on" is inspired by the song by Freddie Mercury/Queen. The show is used as a symbol for life, life is to be enjoyed and continued by those who are left behind and have to try to carry on. The song was released a week before his death. This powerful abstract pop art artwork is painted on a light turquoise background. The size is 100 cm W x 70 cm H and 4 cm deep. It is silk matt "varnished" for protection from dust and UV light and ready to hang. The sides are painted. My artistic expression is a rebellion against the dreariness of everyday life, a manifesto for the joy and wonder of childhood. In my works, I create a world where cheerfulness and imagination reign, where colors come to life and hope and courage take on a tangible form. Each of my paintings invites you to be carried away by the power of optimism.

Product link: <https://www.artsolitaire.arsmundi.de/en/beate-garding-schubert-picture-give-me-a-smile-2023-a1000114132/>