Anja Struck:
Picture "in flight" (2017)

€2,600.00

This image is full of dynamics. A young woman who almost jumps out of the picture. Through the blurring of the contours, the viewer feels and sees the movement and is virtually drawn into the picture with. The woman flies freely in the air. Directly below her a wide street or path, right and left houses. She seems to literally jump out of this city. Through the painted perspective of the house front to the horizon ensteht a depth, through which the image almost three-dimensional effect. The movement of the woman makes you think of street dance, it could also be a skater in the middle of the jump.
