

Sabrina Seck: Picture "respect" (2022)

€3,700.00

Respect is something that we not only like to experience ourselves, but that we should also show to other living beings. Above all, however, respect for women is very important in our day and age. Far too often, women are seen as a person of lower rank and are treated as such. This makes it all the more important to pass on from generation to generation the importance and practice of respect. Because only those who have respect for others will also receive it. Due to digitalization and depending on the monitor settings, there may be slight color deviations.
