Michael Rofka:
Picture "Seeds" (2019)

€4,000.00

This picture belongs to the series of dynamic-organic designed pictures. The picture does not really fit into any category. There are elements of color field painting, also here the colors were applied in many layers, but also expressive or even figurative elements. However, it was not the artist's intention to paint a figurative picture. Associations such as "Same" are possible, but there are other points of reference. What is important is the overall expression of the work with its dynamism and lightness. The lengthy painting process was accompanied by the question of what today inspiration actually is. Thus arose a picture that perhaps also has a spiritual expression but can also act a little erotic.
